'Terrific,' 'Swell,' 'Good Deal'— Reaction To Campus Room

by BOB FLANAGAN

Without a single brass band, fireworks display or searchlight to mark the occasion the College witnessed a grand opening this week.

After close to a year of false starts and rumors the Campus Room, the new snack bar in the back of Austin Hall opened last Tuesday. Most Mikemen seem to think it was worth waiting for.

Although only Ice Cream and Cokes were available Tuesday, the Mikemen were unanimous with their favorable comments. A few of the more common expressions were: " It's terrific," " swell," " a real good deal."

When the sandwich counter opened Wednesday, the reaction was even better. Prices at the snack bar average five to ten cents below those at the local diners.

Coffee, good coffee, sells for five cents a cup.

Hot dogs are fifteen, hamburgs twenty.

According to Mr. Hanlon who is managing the snack bar, Mikemen can expect continued improvements in the next few weeks. Decorations to give the room that 'collegiate look' are in the plans. Service will improve as the help get in the swing of their new job. The Mikemen will have music with their meals; a juke box is already on the way.

Hanlon expressed himself as pleased and also a little amazed at the volume of business in the first two days. However, he doubted whether the on-campus students would suffer much from loss of appetite at their regular meals. The snack bar, he said, will operate on the principle of giving the largest possible portions for the least money.

Mikemen will be able to get their coffee or cokes at the snack bar from 8 A.M. to 10 P.M. on weekdays. The room will be closed Sundays.

Tickets for Wednesday's basketball game at the Auditorium against UVM will be on sale at the box office for one dollar. There will be NO student tickets on sale. It is a first come - first served game.

Problem Before Us

The annual Forty Hours devotion to the Blessed Sacrament will be held at St. Michael's College starting Sunday, Jan. 9, and ending Tuesday, Jan. 11.

The Very Rev. Daniel P. Lyons, SSE, president of St. Michael's, said that the students would take turns as guards of honor during the period when the Blessed Sacrament was on the altar.

The seniors in caps and gowns are scheduled to take part in the processions Sunday and Tuesday. The devotion will open with a Solemn High Mass of exposition Sunday morning at 10. Evening devotions are scheduled Sunday and Monday at 6:30.

Monday morning, the High Mass at 7 will be offered for peace,

Noted Paulist To Be Speaker

The noted Paulist preacher, Rev. Francis X. Ryan, CSP, will give the annual retreat this year at St. Michael's College. Father Ryan will give the retreat from Jan. 26-29, between the final exams for the first semester and the beginning of the second semester. He comes from the Paulist house in New York City. (59th St.)

Because the student body numbers over 1000, the exercises will be held in Austin Hall rather than in the college chapel which cannot handle all the Michaelmen at one time.

Attendance at the retreat is obligatory for all Catholic students. The services include morning Mass, conferences, meditation periods, sermons and benediction.

The college president, the Very Rev. Daniel P. Lyons, said St. Michael's was fortunate to obtain as a retreat master one so highly commended all over the East. Customarily, a number of the lay faculty also make the retreat at the same time.

Services begin Wednesday night, Jan. 26 and end Saturday morning, Jan. 29. The second semester begins Feb. 1.

Knights Tangle With UVM On Wednesday For Fifty-Second Time

The Green Mountain Conference, a mythical title which sounds mighty pretty, gets its biggest airing of the season Wednesday night when the four state college court quintets flex their muscles at each other in a regular two-ring carnival of thrills and chills.

Attracting attention from the folks in the hinterlands will be the Middlebury Panthers and the already once-nudged Norwich Mountaineers in a side-show tent on the Middlebury midway.

EYES ON AUDITORIUM

In Burlington, all eyes will be focused on the polished surface of the Memorial Auditorium. For at approximately 8:30, under the big tent and tripping the light fantastic before the footlights and the multitudes, will be those ancient rivals of the first water, the University of Vermont Catamounts, winners of 23 straight tiffs, and the St. Michael's College Purple Knights, who will come galloping out of their castle in Winooski Park.

The St. Michael's -- UVM contest Wednesday, a battle which is expected to draw the season's largest crowd to the South Union Street playing palace, will be the 52nd engagement between these cross-rivals since 1921. Vermont has been the favorite in nearly every game against the Michaelmen, and despite the tension which usually kicks up whenever two old-time foes get together for another spat, the Catamounts have come through as predicted with flying colors.

UVM VICTORS 42 OF 51

The Catamounts have won no less -- and hang onto your chapeaux, Michaelmen -- than 42 of their 51 games against St. Michael's. The Winooski Park combinations went through 16 defeats before registering a 28-21 victory in 1930. Since that triumph, the Michaelmen have been able to win only eight other games, including their last victory, 45-43, in 1943.

St. Michael's didn't score thirty points in a single game against Vermont until 1933. In its 23rd contest, the Michaelmen came through with 38 markers, but they fell two points shy of victory when UVM canned a 39-38 win.

St. Michael's biggest single game scoring total was tallied in 1940, via a 61-56 win. Vermont, sparked by Larry Killick, Bob Jake and all the little K-boys, came up with its biggest game total in an 80-56 walk-away in 1947.

Photos Due Saturday Tickets The 20th

Deadlines for the Outing Club's Winter Weekend February 4, 5 and 6 are rapidly approaching.

Saturday the 15th is the last day for submitting pictures to the King and Queen contest. The following Thursday is the final date for purchasing blanket tickets for the whole weekend. However, any Mikeman who wants a blanket ticket will have to reserve it from his area chairman before this date.

The number of blanket tickets sold is being held down to 250 to prevent crowding at the two dances which will be part of the weekend.

The Mikemen who really want to impress their dates will have an opportunity to show their best schuss-form and sitzmark technique at Underhill Saturday and on the Sunday trip to Stowe.

EDITORIALS

Spurred by the advent of the ' Truman Deal', some social reformists have screamed pledges to turn America into the " Promised Land." Of interest not only nationally, but also particularly to the student is the National Health Insurance Plan. Recent headlines have indicated a trend to resolve the question into a battle of personalities, but to millions of Americans the state of their personal well being is of predominant importance.

The plan is not actually a new one. As far back as 1932 the problem of providing satisfactory medical care was studied and resolved. Even then it was more than obvious that the state of the average American's health was a problem to be faced and met. Little has been done since then until the much debated " Wagner-Dingell Bill" was introduced. The whole issue has now been tossed to the hands of the 81st Congress, but the consequences of it are so far reaching that, should it be enacted, the effect would be felt by each and every one of us. The lines have been drawn, pitting the American Medical Association against the President's cohorts, but the result could easily lie in the hands of an informed America.

A realization that money, or more appropriately the lack of it has put a crimp in many an American's medical care plan, has precipitated the whole question. Mr. William Packer, of the Boston Sunday Globe, in an excellent article, sums this up very well: - " When there are not enough dollars at the disposal of the sick person there is likely to be too little for the doctor." Statistics are staggering.

Nearly 70,000,000 Americans, of all ages, it is estimated, are outside the circle of good medical care. A severe or chronic illness, coupling as it does the loss of work with seemingly exorbitant bills, may easily put a family on its back for a lifetime. Of the necessity for some type of reform, or even legislation, there can be no doubt. The question is rather -- What type? Quoting Mr. Packer again -- " The chief point of discussion (on Mr. Truman's 10 year health program) is whether it will be better to have the insurance voluntary or compulsory."

Epitomized by the Blue Cross and the Blue Shield, voluntary health insurance has grown by leaps and bounds in the past 18 years but still only about 17 percent of the population is protected.

The government plan, compulsory as it is, is designed to blanket the field of medicine. All are to be protected, hospitals and medical schools are to be built and improved, financial troubles are to be erased, doctors and nurses are to be subsidized (although even the most radical of supporters would not use the term), and in short, a cure-all for all the nation's health problems.

The A. M. A. does not view the proceedings with such an optimistic eye. Countering it says: - the intervention of the government will cut down the quality of medical care (and point to Great Britain and pre-war Germany as examples); the tremendous cost entailed which would be nearly impossible to estimate, the position of doctors would be reduced to civil service status, patients would be denied the freedom of choice; and the red tape that exemplifies all governmental bureaucratic endeavors would entangle progress.

But most of all the A.M.A. feels the driving force that has enabled American medicine to push to the world's leadership would all but be eliminated --- that force which enables students to grind through eight years of study to earn the coveted M.D., only to find it one of the world's most difficult jobs. That force is initiative and self-possession.

But what does this mean to us? College students, whether studying sociology, history, law, or medicine, should have a vital interest in affairs of social reform. Many have cried the Compulsory Insurance Health Plan would lead to socialized medicine and ultimately to socialized state.

Others have claimed the lack of it can only mean an unhealthy nation. The final word is in the hands of public opinion. We as future leaders of America can help insure an intelligent and informed public opinion.

Well, here we are back at the mines again and I'm happy to say that I am finally coming into my own as a columnist. Yes sir, received my first fan letter today. Thank you, Mother.

Many thanks to Fr. Moriarty (and Newton College of the Sacred Heart) for the success of the Boston Alumni dance. I thought it was a really good take.

MICHAELMEN LEAD IN POPULARITY POLL (Can we help it!)

" Dollars for Scholars" is the slogan of a project being sponsored by the N.F.C.C.S. of Our Lady of the Elms College for the purpose of raising funds for Student Relief. Seems that the girls deposit a dime and vote for their choice of the men's colleges of the nation. Let's hope that our backers are in the chips. I won't tell you the name of our leading competition but it is located in Worcester and they're always giving hoyas. One more clue - their school symbol depicts a knight of old, as does ours. I'll let you know how we make out. THE ELMSCRIPT

The students of Providence College have passed a Student Congress plan with the only dissenting vote coming from the Junior Class. The proposed constitution provides the Student Congress with powers previously considered the sole right of the administration. The constitution empowers this organ to act as the official representative of the student body in matters of common concern and interest. The organization shall also regulate the extra-curricular activities of the student body. The entire constitution appears in the December 8 issue.

If you tell a girl that her face would stop a clock, you are being insulting; but if you tell her that every time you look at her time stands still, you are a gentleman, a scholar and a true diplomat.

You can say she's a vision, can't say she's a sight
And no woman is skinny, she's slender and slight,
If she burns you up, say she sets you afire,
And you'll always be welcome, you tricky old liar.

Subsistence allowances paid by the Veterans Administration to veterans in educational or on-the-job training are not considered as income for income-tax purposes, Charles L. Jacobs, manager of the Vermont VA Center, said today.

Any income that they may earn on part-time jobs while attending educational institutions full-time, or earn while on-job training, Jacobs warned, is subject to taxation under existing tax laws.

CAMPUS STATIC: A few of the hustle-bustle Michaelmen returned early for classes last Monday, but were rather disappointed when the professors didn't show up ... Jack Pryor took advantage of arriving early by doing a little skiing rather than going to class ... Jim Stafford was seen at the Underhill Ski Bowl all day Monday ... Paul Gravel had a "wonderful time" celebrating his return to the Hilltop and of course the checks were in ... Clem Shaw, up from New Britain was at the Springfield dance dolled up in a tux with all the trimmings ... Even Jack Ready was there in a monkey suit ... Charlie Guill made a name for himself at the Boston dance ... " Stick around something's going to break" was the familiar phrase of the hockey stalwarts as they braved the weatherman over the weekend ... The retreat is COMPULSORY ... Harry Matroni had a rare time at the Blue Grotto in West Springfield New Year's Eve ... Terry Camire and Margret Ledden, respectively, were seen at the Hartford and Springfield dances ... Paul Gravel and Jack Sigler spent a quiet New Year's Eve together in Hudson, N.Y., marooned by the flood waters ... But the maroonedest guy of all was Prof. Griffin. All out of love for St. Michael's, he drove from Bridgeport out to Hempstead, Long Island for the Hofstra game, had to stay there from Monday until Wednesday because cars without chains were not permitted on the highway. To top that, he had to spend New Year's Eve ALONE in his flood isolated car in Torington, Conn. Happy New Year, Bob! .. Our boy, G.A. Valiente, is back from Quebec City and all smiles ... How was the trip senor .. Air waves disturb class rooms ... It wasn't ethical. .. Recently saw the hockey team praying for colder weather .. Also praying, the ski team, to stop raining and about another foot of snow, if you please ... Bernie Ells was married over the vacation ... Congratulations Bernie ... The Knights and Knaves annual banquet is set for February 20 ... Was Duke Austin having trouble with Philosophy at the Olde Board Tuesday evening? ...

Shamrocks and Shillelaghs

Shamrocks to all those willing Michaelmen who helped Father Lyons get his Christmas cards addressed before the holidays - and a special shamrock to Hank Matyszczyk for that excellent picture which was used on the card - and special garlands of shamrocks to those Michaelmen and their families who sent cards to our president. He's asked us to say a heartfelt " thank you " - and shamrocks to our own circulation staff members, particularly Jerry Meyers who shortchanged their vacations to make certain the pre-holiday issue of The Michaelman was distributed on campus.

Shillelaghs to those " bugs" that sent Fathers Moriarty and Larkin to the infirmary. Ditto to the " bugs" that are keeping Fathers Cheray and Petty off the active list.

Shamrocks to the Michaelman who bothered to write a " thank you" to Father Dube for good care in the infirmary - and Shillelaghs to the characters who never remember to do such thoughtful things.

DR. STOEHR CONCERT

Dr. Richard Stoehr, head of the music department, who has just returned from a series of vacation concerts in Pennsylvania, will perform Thursday, Jan. 13, at a musical benefit in the UVM Fleming museum.

Dr. Stoehr will be joined by Dr. Wilhelm Raab, violinist, and Mrs. Jean Pappoutsakis, cellist. The program at 8 will be for the benefit of the World Student Federation

GOLDEN GLOVES TOURNEY DRAWS KNIGHTS

Piscione Grooming Several Michaelmen

" Two or three bouts" will constitute the boxing experience of the three-man St. Michael's College Golden Glove team when it steps into the squared circle at Burlington Memorial Auditorium Thursday night in the preliminary bouts in the Burlington Daily News sponsored amateur fistic tournament.

Of the three Michaelmen - Jeremiah Finn, Jack Daly and Harold Young - only Young has had any ring action in the past.

Daly, who may be remembered for his talented football maneuvers last fall in Purple Knight grid gear, will enter the 126 lb. class; Young, the 160 wgt. class; Finn, the 160 lb. class.

The entry of the St. Michael's team into the Vermont Golden Glove tournament boosts the number of competitors to the forty mark. The Purple gladiators will have a crack at the team trophy, awarded by the sponsored Daily News. Finn, Daly and Young will receive a medal for their first bout efforts, and for each victory each scores, a palm will be added to his medal.

Should any of the St. Michael's trio pound his way to a division title, he will accompany the state champions to Lowell, Mass., for the regional Golden Gloves tourney. A Lowell triumph will send the Michaelman - or any other Vermonter - to the big New York City tournament.

St. Michael's students wishing to purchase tickets for Thursday's activities in the Auditorium may obtain them from " Doc" Jacobs in the Athletic Office.

There will be three nights of Golden Glove boxing this month in the Auditorium. The preliminary bouts will be held the 13th (next Thursday), the semi-finals on the 20th and the finals on the 27th. It's on the last date when the silverware will be doled out to the champions.

Young, who hangs his hat in Brushton, New York, during vacation time, is 21 years of age. He had a bit of intra-mural slugging experience at Champlain College.

Finn, a Springfield, Mass., puncher, is a novice. Weighing 165 pounds at the present time, the enthusiastic Bay Stater is slimming down to the 160 pound mark. If this Michaelman scores a victory, it'll be a case of Finn delivering a Mickey Finn to the jaw of some foe.

Daly, the third member of the St. Michael's trio, has boosted his weight since football days to 130 pounds. However, he'll be down to 126 when the first gong sounds Thursday night in the Auditorium. At twenty-four years of age, Daly is the oldest member of the Winooski Park contingent.

St. Mike's Hilltopics

Tony Cauley

Witn a sincere hope that everyone has recovered from that wonderful and lengthy Christmas vacation, we once more try to set down a few words about what gives in sports here at St. Michael's.

Our winter sports program is now in full swing, with the basketball team improving with every game, the frosh coming along very nicely, and our hockey quintet sharpening up their skates in preparation for the first game today. Speaking about ice and snow, this column is being written in Holyoke, and if there isn't any more of that wintery stuff up Winooski way than there is here, the skates and skis are going to stay fairly inactive for a while yet. However, maybe the weatherman will surprise us with a little cold snap, to enable those who enjoy the outdoor winter sports to put in a little time on the mountains and rinks.

Getting back to basketball, let's rehash a little the trip our hoopsters took during the first part of the holiday. Two games were played, the first of which pitted the Knights against Hofstra, of Hempstead, N.Y. It may be well to note that this was the first time St. Mike's ever played this first rate school from New York, and it launched the Knights' effort to engage the bigger and better basketball squads of the East.

SAD STORY

The game ended with the lads in Purple on the short end of a 59-49 score, but the score doesn't nearly show that the game was hard fought all the way. Markey, Walsh et squad gave a good account of themselves, which might be demonstrated by the fact that with two minutes to play the score read Hofstra 52 - St. Michael's 49.

However a last minute spurt by the New Yorkstaters put the cinch on it, and our squad left the floor with their heads held high.

ST. PETER'S

St. Peter's of New Jersey was next, and in this one also, the Knights played inspired ball, only to lose by the slim margin of two points. The game was a tooth and nail affair, with both squads playing bang-up ball. With a minute to play, the Knights were in the lead by one point, but this was quickly erased by a St. Peter's set shot from almost halfway out. This and another foul shot for the home team was the extent of the scoring, and so the game ended St. Peter's 56 - St. Michael's 54.

All this info comes by way of my athletic roomie, whom I happened to run into down at one of the local sweet shops. According to him, the trip was a huge success, with St. Michael's making new friends at both schools.

Friday saw the squad travelling across the lake to tangle with Champlain. However, all eyes are on that game with Vermont coming up next Wednesday. Let's get out there and get them this time.

They are still talking to themselves about that defeat we handed them in football, so let's keep the ball rolling with another win, besides giving them more reasons to mumble about bad breaks, slippery floors or anything else they can think up.

Traditional Foes Renew Series

Mikemen should be able to get a good line on the Knights' chances in Green Mountain League competition this week when St. Michael's meets Middlebury and Vermont within a space of three days.

Of last winter's scores the Knights should be favored in the Middlebury game Saturday the 15th, at Middlebury. A year ago the Knights turned back the Panthers twice by good margins. However, Middlebury like St. Michael's is fielding a team this year with a greatly changed roster. Coach Ciccolella's team has been strengthened by the addition of several members of last winter's good frosh team.

As a warmup to the big game against Middlebury the Mikemen meet UVM in the Auditorium Wednesday. The only substantial difference between this Vermont team and the one which humbled St. Michael's twice last winter is the addition of 6' Keith Galli who starred for the Kittens a year ago.

With Galli sparking what attack they have shown, Vermont to date has bested two third-rate teams, Union and Hamilton, and been decisively trounced by two good schools, Dartmouth and Conn. U. Dartmouth turned the trick twice.

Vermont has a veteran team which so far has not approached the performances of which it is capable. The Vermont guards, Captain Hammie Livingston and Ed Kotlarczyk, last year's captain, are two especially good players who could easily give St. Michael's a bad evening of it. However, the Vermont team as a whole this year has been characterized by a lethargic, uninspired type of ball.

There is a good possibility that Vermont will find itself against St. Michael's. The whole University from President Millis down was very unhappy over the 13-2 setback handed them on the gridiron last Fall by their rivals from this side of the Onion river. Another defeat in basketball would probably break the collective hearts of all the Catamounts.

Vermont is ranked tenth in New England according to the Dunkel rating system. A St. Michael's victory this Wednesday would either lift the Knights into this spot or at least put them near it.

Wednesday's game is a Vermont home game.

Science Hall Ready Feb. 1

Intensive work during the Christmas holidays and since will get the new Science Hall ready for use February 1, according to Building Superintendent John S. Buchan.

The new $500,000 building, slated to be used during the second semester for the first time, is being filled with equipment to make it one of the most modern in the country, according to the president, the Very Rev. Daniel P. Lyons, SSE.

The three story, Colonial brick fireproof building, erected largely through the contributions of Vermont and alumni groups, will permit St. Michael's to eliminate evening classes for the first time since the war.

Placing the Physics, Chemistry and Biology departments under one roof, the new Science Hall is modern in equipment and decoration and is the first of the permanent buildings to be added to the " greater St. Michael's".

The Rev. Gerald E. Dupont, academic dean, said the building will extend the opportunities for research and graduate work both in the regular session and in the summer school when women are admitted, elaborate system of air control will remove all fumes, and a thermostatic control of heating permits any room to be heated or cut off individually.

The Cummings Construction Company has nearly completed its work and painters and electricians are now finishing the paint and light work which is based on the latest recommendations of General Electric scientists to make studying more effective and to prevent eyestrain. Freeman, French and Freeman of Burlington were the architects.

Equipment is now being installed. The heavier equipment will all be new, much of it having been obtained from the War Assets Administration at a saving to the college.

FLOOR PLANS

The first floor will be devoted to the Physics department. It will include, in addition to classrooms, shops and offices, two auditoriums with sloping floors built up by steps to facilitate demonstrations.

The second floor will be for Chemistry with special facilities for laboratory and research work in general, qualitative, quantitative and organic chemistry.

The top floor will be for biology and, in addition to laboratories, will have a specially constructed greenhouse for growing specimens under examination.

Dedication plans.

Plans for dedicating the building will be completed after the building is put in use, so that those who helped in its planning, erection and use will be able to see it in its final form.

James J. Carney of Burlington, one of the associate trustees of the college, headed the campaign organization which helped raise much of the money toward the new building. The clergy chairman was the Rt. Rev. Patrick C. Brennan, P.A., V.G., and the alumni chairman was Frank J. Stewart of Burlington.

The associate clergy committee chairman was the Rev. William J. Cain of Shelburne, while the co-chairmen of the special gifts committee were Patrick T. Donovan and J. Edward Moran of Burlington. Gerald J. McKenzie headed the clubs and organizations committee.

The campus committees were in charge of Dr. Jeremiah K. Durick and Harry Scully.

Traditionally the students volunteer to spend a half hour each in the chapel so that the Blessed Sacrament is never unattended. The rectors of the various halls are in charge of the schedule of adoration.

skiing the Underhill trip in itself should be worth the six bucks cost of the blanket ticket.

For the benefit of the confirmed ski enthusiasts, the club has added an extra Sunday trip to Stowe. Bus fare, tow tickets and miscellaneous expenses for the trip will probably come to ten dollars a couple.

Bargain Offered On Hub Weekend

Director of Atheltics, George " Doc" Jacobs, is being flooded with outside reservations for the basketball weekend in Boston February 26, but as yet only a few students have made any deposits with either Jacobs or the Treasurer's Office.

This excursion is a real bargain for all basketball enthusiasts. It offers two basketball games with two of the top cage fives in the East, Boston College and Holy Cross, and two of the up and coming eastern teams, Boston University and the Purple Knights of St. Michael's College.

Just for $12.50, student hoop followers can have besides the two basketball games, a hotel reservation at either the Lenox or the Copley Square, and the round trip train to Boston. For outsiders, the " works" cost $14.

The chartered train will leave Essex Junction Saturday, February 26, at 11 a.m. for Boston and the connecting bus will leave the Hilltop at 10:30. The train will arrive in Boston in the late afternoon in plenty of time for the games at the Arena.

Sunday, the 27th, the train will leave for Essex Junction at 6, allowing plenty of time to see the Ice Follies in the afternoon at the Boston Garden.

February 25 is the deadline for reservations.
